When tradition is calling a taxi

Cargraphic celebrates its 25th anniversary with a spectacular Cayenne

This impressive Porsche Cayenne has been specially designed for the Cargraphic anniversary and pays homage to the legendary 2006 race taxi: It has a built-in performance software developed together with the company's technical partner Kubatech. The upgraded V6 cylinder diesel now delivers 290 PS / 213 kW. In addition, 21-inch Racing wheels from the manufacturer have been fitted with Dunlop SP QUATTROMAXX 295/35 R21 tyres. A stainless-steel exhaust system has also been fitted. The look is completed by a Cargraphic lowering kit as well as a stylish body kit, including front quad headlamps.

The most striking feature is the distinctive car body foil that has been designed and fitted together with FOLIATEC®.com and foil experts from folioCar. The Cargraphic Cayenne has a similar checked pattern to the classic New Yorker checker cabs. In this case, however, the design is a race flag. It is clear that the tuners from Germany are making reference to their successful involvement in motorsports. Their development expertise is also reflected in their performance-oriented road products. It is not just aesthetics that play an important role for the customizing specialists but also the "kinetic aspects" of their designs. Even though their creativity is no longer just centred on Porsche cars but many other car brands, too. Real masterpieces of Cargraphic are the stainless-steel exhaust systems, 1- and 3-piece alloy wheels "made in Germany" and the new airlift suspension.

Cab drivers however, don't need to worry about competition at the taxi stand because this fast Cayenne will be primarily used for display purposes. Which is why it will be the rolling advertising vehicle in 2010 for selected events and exhibitions.
